

What Is A Schnitzel?

A traditional schnitzel is a boneless meat usually made from pork, chicken or veal, thinned with a hammer (meat tenderizer), coated with flour, beaten eggs and bread crumbs, and then fried. Since then the Germans have created many different styles of schnitzel, some breaded some not. Below you will have a choice of three styles popular in our family's region of Germany.

Choose your Meat and Style

Pork or Chicken. 15.

Veal. 18.

Rahm or Jäger style add 3.

Traditional Schnitzel Your choice of Pork, Chicken or Veal, pounded thin then coated with flour, beaten eggs and our homemade bread crumbs. Fried until golden brown. Served with a side of brown sauce and lemon wedge.

Add two slices of melted Swiss cheese for a real treat. Add 2.

Recommended Sides: red cabbage and spätzle.

Rahm Schnitzel Add 3.

Your choice of Pork, Chicken or Veal, breaded or floured then fried and topped with our chef's made to order sauce, using rich cream, mushrooms and our brown sauce to create this creamy mushroom delicacy.

Recommended Sides: sautéed squash and fries.

Jäger Schnitzel Add 3.

Your choice of Pork, Chicken or Veal, breaded or floured then fried and topped with the chef's signature Hunters sauce made from our house brown sauce, diced sweet red peppers and red wine. Your schnitzel is then topped with the sauce, golden onions and sautéed mushrooms.

Recommended Sides: vegetable of the week and spätzle.

All entrées include a choice of two side dishes
